Lack of candidates means no primary

By CHRIS RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents will have a difficult time choosing candidates in the primary election this year—for the first time in the city's history, a primary election will not be held in September.

As of 4 p.m. July 23—the filing deadline for the offices of mayor, clerk, treasurer and city council—only one person, except for the office of Treasurer, had filed for candidacy in each office and only 12 persons had indicated they would run for city council.

A primary election is held prior to the November General Election to narrow the choices of candidates down to just two persons for every office except city council.

The 14 highest vote-getters for the office of city council are selected for the November ballot during a primary, according to City Clerk Linda Choate.

Those filing for two-year terms are: Mayor Beverly McAnally for the office of mayor, Choate, for the office of city clerk, and City Treasurer John Lewkowicz for treasurer. Lewkowicz will be challenged by Joyce Morgan.

Incumbent council candidates seeking seven spots for two-year terms are Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, Barry Baumann, Noah Bergeron, Fred Junior Block, Alan Lambert and William Wadsworth.

Challenging the six are Kathleen McCallum, Judith Ellis, Marie Debuyscher, Ellis Pennington, Theodore Jacques and Melvin Zilka.

According to Choate, a primary election is mandated when the number of candidates seeking offices exceeds twice the number of openings for each office.

For example, there must be at least three candidates for the offices of mayor, clerk or treasurer and at least 15 candidates for city council to necessitate a primary election.

As the deadline for filing approached July 23, it became clear to Choate that a primary would not be held this year.

"I'm glad," she said last Thursday. "This is going to save the city a lot of money."

At least $10,000 will be saved by not running a primary, she said.

Included in the cost of running an election are ballot printing fees, voting machine set-up and salary for election workers in 20 precincts.

It was an unexpected but welcomed savings for candidates who will not have to face the expense of running an election campaign prior to the General Election.

"At least I don't have to spend $400 or $500 to run," Bill Wadsworth commented.

Dennis Davidson, director of community relations, said it was a "vote of confidence for the current administration."

"They want another two years out of this administration," he said.

According to the clerk's office, there were no records kept on file before 1955 for those candidates running for office.

It is known, though, that since the inception of the city in 1970, there has been a primary election every September.

For the second time in the history of the township, the chief executive is running unopposed.

Edmond Bizek ran unopposed for Township Supervisor in 1966, according to city hall records.

"I feel that it is a vote of confidence in our city, our admininistration and our goals," McAnally said. "We've made tremendous progress in the last year-and-a-half and I believe that our citizens are pleased with this progress."

As a result of not having a primary, voter turn-out for the November 12 election is expected to be light, Choate said.

Although declining to make any firm projections of voter turn-out this November, she added that voting during a non-presidential election year is always light.

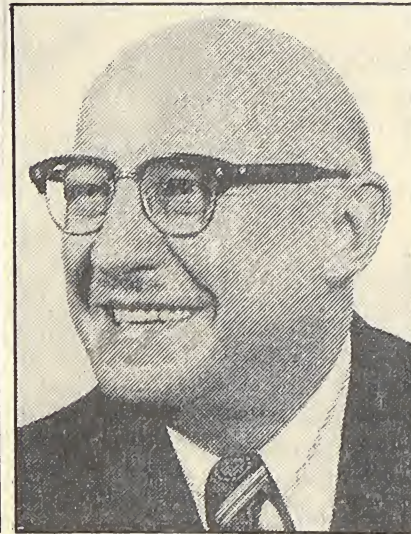

"At this point, I'd rather not say," Choate said. "We've never not had a primary since becoming a city, I don't know what effect it may have."

16 file petitions for elective office

By CHRIS RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents will have to choose from among 13 candidates for the offices of treasurer and city council when voting in the November 12 General Election.

The offices of mayor and city clerk are unopposed this year and voters will find only one name for each office on their ballots. Running unopposed this year and for an office unopposed only once when the city was a township, Mayor Beverly McAnally was first elected mayor in 1983. She has served also for three terms on the city council. She was elected Mayor Pro Tem in 1973.

Running unopposed for the office of city clerk is Linda R. Choate, Romulus's current city clerk. Elected in November, 1983, Choate is seeking her second term as clerk, after a stint as a secretary in the clerk's office since 1962.

Seeking the only office outside of the city council that is this year opposed is John Lewkowicz, the city's current treasurer. Elected six years ago, Lewkowicz is seeking his fourth term in that capacity. A councilmember from 1981-1982, he was also a member of the water and sewer commission. Lewkowicz said he "enjoys the work" as his reason for attempting a fourth term.

Challenging Lewkowicz is Joyce Morgan, 48, a woman not new to city hall. Morgan was formerly employed by the city for almost 10 years either as a secretary in the purchasing department, clerk's office, of which she served as deputy clerk for two years, and in the recreation department. Morgan attributes her extensive background with the city as a reason she is seeking office.

Among the council candidates seeking office, for which six of the current seven members have filed in addition to six residents who will challenge the seven vacancies is Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, 53. Elected in 1977 as both council member and Mayor Pro Tem, Banks said she wanted to run another term because of "my continued concern with the community."

Barry Baumann, current council member for four years, is seeking his third term. At 34, Baumann has lived in Romulus all of his life and is currently also a member of the planning commission as council representative. Baumann said "goals that set when first seeking office" are not yet complete and he would like to run for another term.

Alan Lambert, 30, is another incumbent seeking a council seat. Elected four years ago, he is trying to gain a third term. A life-long resident of Romulus, employed by Detroit Diesel in Romulus, Lambert said he has "grown up in Romulus and saw a lot of things we didn't have."

Noah Bergeron, 34, is seeking his third term in office as currently president of the Romulus Rotary Club and representative to the People's Community Hospital Authority for the City of Romulus. He is currently employed at Individual Financial Planning, New Boston.

William Wadsworth, 41, is seeking his second term and is currently employed by the Wayne County Sheriff's Office stationed at Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Wadsworth said his inexperience during his first term has developed into a more firm, experienced conviction to help the city move forward as he approaches the end of his term.

Fred Junior Block, 61, has been on the city council for 14 years and is currently seeking his eighth term. Self-employed by Block Implement, a business he created to buy and sell fire machinery, Block said he believes he can help his

Challenging the six incumbents are:

Kathleen McCallum, 45. McCallum ran unsuccessfully for city council in 1983 and is a member of the Romulus Sesquicentennial Committee and the parade committee. McCallum said she is interested in the city and thinks she can be a benefit to it if she runs.

Judith Ellis, 40, is also seeking a council seat. Running for the first time for any political office, Ellis said that the council "could use a new face" in the next year. She is currently employed at Multi-Communications in Livonia as a bookkeeper.

Marie Diane Debuyscher, 55, has lived in the city 33 years and has never held a political office. She ran unsuccessfully for charter commission but has been a member of the recreation commission, the board of Directors (a community social service agency). Debuyscher said she has always been interested in running for council but was always involved in other activities.

Ellis Pennington, 58, ran for city council 12 years ago and won a seat for a two-year term. A member of the Democratic Club, Pennington is currently employed by Kelsey Hayes.

Theodore Jacques, 39, is a new-comer to candidacy for council. Jacques ran unsuccessfully in the last two elections and tried also for the office of state representative the last election. Employed by the General Motor Corporation, Jacques will try again because "I think I can do some things that the city needs done."

Melvin Zilka, 49, is a new-comer to the political scene. Retired from the Wayne County Board of Commissioners after 29 years, Zilka said he

Repair near completion

By CHRIS RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents should find the roads a bit smoother now that one phase of the 1985-86 street paving program is nearing conclusion.

Robert Plank, director of public works, said that resurfacing of Menton, Shook and Barth roads should be completed by this week.

The project, begun when the city council originally appropriated $300,000 and amended the budget at their July 3 meeting to include an additional $59,359.31 from the local street fund balance to the local contractual services fund, has been ongoing since July 1.

Menton, between Shook and Ozga, Barth, between Hannan and Huron River Drive and Shook, between Tobine and Interstate 94 comprise those areas either resurfaced or converted from gravel to asphalt.

One half mile of Menton Road was asphalted, Plank said.

Although near completion, the city has an ongoing maintenance program, which includes a chip and seal process that is currently being used on city streets. Chip and seal is a process where an asphalt emulsion is sprayed on the roads after which a fine stone chip is rolled into a tar-like mixture. The mixture is then applied to the road.

The procedure, according to Plank, "buys time" for the roads until severe cracking necessitates resurfacing.

Additional road maintenance includes cutting out and replacing sections of faulty asphalt.

Plank said the entire process of maintenance and resurfacing caused only a minimum inconvenience to travelers who may have experienced either road blockage or dust from gravel removal.

"Our roads are kept in pretty good shape," Plank said. "People around here are anxious to see these roads (converted) to asphalt."

There are currently many streets in the area that are still gravel but the "mayor is committed to paving as many roads with the funds available as possible," he said.

Waltz Bridge to receive paint job

By CHRIS RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Waltz Road Bridge will get a much needed face lift now that Wayne County has received bids for the repainting of the structure that stands currently in a state of disrepair.

Advertisements for bids began June 25 and were due July 9 for the two-lane bridge located over the Huron River just outside New Boston, according to Milton Mack, chairman of the Wayne County Commission's Committee on Public Services.

The structure, which in the eyes of the community has been "quite a sight," Christine Gamber, treasurer of Huron Township, said, was last painted more than 15 years ago.

Painting will begin once contracts have been awarded.

Constructed in 1924, the bridge was the main road into Huron before the construction of 275.

"It's been an eyesore for a long time," Gamber said. "It was in need of this long before now."

Any inconvenience caused as a result of the painting crews on the bridge will be "dwarfed" by the beautification of the bridge, she said.

Mack said work may begin as early next month.

"If the bids come within budget, work should commence thereafter," he said, "and be completed long before the Huron Township Apple Festival" in the Fall.

Children's center reopens

The Romulus High School Children's Center will reopen next Fall after being closed for the past year. The program serves ages 2 1/2- to 5-year-olds in a traditional nursery school setting.

The center also serves as a lab facility for high school students enrolled in vocational child care classes, according to Ed Clark, a counselor for Romulus Adult Education.

Parents interested in enrolling preschoolers for Fall, 1985, should direct inquiries to the vocational education office at 941-2311.

Adult school registration begins

Early registration for Fall adult high school classes is now being offered at the Romulus Adult Education office Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 1 p.m., according to Ed Clark, the adult education counselor.

Registration information and questions can be directed to the adult education offices at 941-0610.

Huron approves senior center site

The Huron Board of Education and township board have agreed to provide a senior citizens center for residents of the township as a result of a recent township meeting July 24.

The school district has a vacant building known as the Old Administration Building 24820 Merriman Road, New Boston that will be used as the center once it has been renovated, according to Deputy Township Clerk Romyne Stoker.

Funds, approximately $31,000.00, will be made available from the township's 1985 Block Grant Program. The school district will pay for all costs of utilities and maintenance for not less than 15 years, according to terms of the agreement.

The new center is designed to coalesce the seniors within the community who currently meet at separate meeting places rather than travel to a distant location for senior gatherings, Stoker said.

44th Tank Battalion reunites

Romulus has been chosen for the 14th Annual Reunion of the 44th Tank Battalion Association, an elite fighting unit chosen by Gen. Douglas MacArthur to spearhead his attack in the Pacific Theater of Operations during World War II.

The honored group will meet this week Thursday through Saturday at the Hilton Inn, 31500 Wick Road, across from Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Soccer league player, coaches sought

The Romulus Recreation Department is now accepting registration for a soccer league for youths in kindergarten through sixth grades. Older youths will be placed in either the Junior or Senior leagues.

League officials will organize the first three leagues according to elementary schools attended by participants.

Keeping up with Smith

by dorothea smith

Mark Oddy is home. The son of George and Joan Oddy (Sumpter Township Clerk) is relaxing with the family after a tour of duty with the Navy that took him to the South Pacific - Philippines, Hong Kong, Singapore, Thailand and Japan.

He served on the USS Midway, an attack carrier, carrying 4,500 men and 75 fighter planes. Based 50 miles south of Tokyo at Yokosuka, Japan, it was part of the 32-ship fleet that stood off the coast during the Iranian crisis and when the USS Kitty Hawk was hit by a Russian submarine. The Midway was at sea continuously for 111 days.

During his time at home, he has enjoyed being part of a family reunion with visits from his grandparents Norma and Bill Oddy of Florida and Edith Wisenor of Louisiana, along with friends and relatives.

He will be home until Aug. 1, which incidentally is his birthday and then reports to San Diego, California, for a new assignment.

While Mark was gone, the Oddy family, through the Lions Club Cultural Exchange Program, were hosts to a Japanese boy Hiroshi Harigai. He was the same age as Mathew and the two boys became fast friends. The two families kept in touch and when they found out Mark was in Japan the Harigais became his substitute parents. He was treated like their own son. They showed him the sights and when they learned that he had missed Christmas at home for two years, even though the family was Buddhist and did not celebrate Christmas, they made a special celebration for him.

With the help of Susan Koch, an American English teacher from Kansas living in Japan, the two families corresponded regularly so that in September the Oddy family is expecting another visitor.

Keiko Harigai, the 19-year-old daughter, will be coming to spend a year here and go to school.

She has completed two years of study at Tokyo's top school of oriental cuisine, but even with six years of English in high school, she was afraid to come alone. So Susan Koch and her fiancé Takashi Hausmi, will make the trip with her and stay a few days at the Oddy's to help her settle in.

Joan Oddy would always include the message "Give my son a hug" when she wrote to Mrs. Harigai and Mrs. Harigai always did, even though she had to stand on a chair. Mark is 6 feet plus, Mrs. Harigai is 5 feet minus.

Remember the line in the old song "A Boy for You, A Girl for Me?" Well, it came true for two area ladies this month. Delphine Dudick, Van Buren Township Clerk, and Mrs. Robson of Robson Builders both became grandmothers for the first time.

On July 7 in Wyandotte General Hospital, Michael and Diane Dudick became the proud parents of Jeffrey Michael.

"Being a grandmother for the first time is really a thrill," Mrs. Dudick said, "and this is quite a boy. He weighed in at 9 pounds, 10 ounces and is so bright and alert."

Mr. and Mrs. Robson's daughter Carol Crosswait and sons Neal and Mark went to Kingston, Tennessee, on the Tennessee River where they were joined by daughter Sara with husband Tom Fitzpatrick and baby Rachel, four weeks old.

This was the first meeting for the happy grandparents with the new family member, and as Grandma Robson said: "I think this makes Rachel the world's youngest camper."

Mervin (Mik) Mikula got "into a scrape" (his own words) a while back. Without going into details I can tell you it involved coming before Judge Stone and penal servitude.

Well, it appears that while living in California, Mik had worked with a Japanese landscape gardener and learned quite a lot.

He offered to take on the job of landscaping the area around Belleville City Hall and after many hours of hard work, he paid his "debt to society" and helped create a pleasing environment what we can all enjoy.

dan's dogs

by dan a. morris

Editor's note: Dan Morris has been a professional dog trainer for more than 20 years and has worked in all phases of dog training. If you have a specific problem, his advice is available by writing him in care of Associated Newspapers, Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

The olfactory nerve can be very useful tool, if you know its function and the advantage you will have over your dog once you learn how to use it.

The olfactory nerve enables the dog to smell and identify odors much greater than you and I. The dog's smelling ability is comparable to the human receiving thought pictures. The dog does not use his eyes and ears to identify first. Instead he uses his smelling ability to "picture" the identity of person or object.

Because of his uncanny sense of smell, the dog can aid mankind in tracking, search and rescue, bomb detection, gas leaks, electrical fires, smoke detection, narcotics, weapon detection, war filed mine detection, avalanche search and many more. We fail to believe our own dog is capable of such training ability. This thinking is unfair, because our own dog uses his olfactory sense daily. Let's establish how this is done.

Think of your body as a walking lie detector. With every human emotion is secreted a certain degree of odor, which the dog uses to his advantage. This of the first time you tried to walk your dog down the street. He was probably pulling you to street and bush, and you emotion was whether anger or embarrassment. Whenever we lose control, we give off yet another odor brought about by frustration. In each case, the dog took advantage of you and dominated the situation.

Let's examine the family situation. In most cases the dog sees the ladder of dominance as husband, dog, wife, then child. This structure is identical to the dominant or submissive role in the wolf or wild dog family. The male of the household portrays the dominating and controlling image. Because his confidence is projected in such a manner, the dog will not challenge this household.

The female role versus the dog: The dog usually adopts the wife as its new "mother." A different kind of affection is given to the wife than to the husband. The bond between the two is so strong that I'm sure the wife finds it difficult to leave the room without the dog following her. The dog becomes the wife's shadow and constantly pesters her to get attention. An excellent example is when the wife goes shopping. While she is gone the dog goes to the bedroom and identifies her shoes. When she returns she find the dog in the living room chewing her shoe - not her husband's, not her children's - but hers!

Housebreaking your dog can be frustrating! You try to be patient; you think your dog has it down to a science, but in the early morning hours you find you have been mistaken, because your skipping across the room on one foot. For your dog has broken the law of science and went directly into Murphy's Law!

The family is told that you will give the dog only two more weeks and if he messes in the house, out he goes! You are at the point of wishing the dog will make a mistake, to give you an excuse to get rid of him. What happens is the dog knew (by your odor) that the negative actions on his part no longer had any effect on you, so he changes his technique and became housebroken immediately.

You can control your dog's actions many times by the way you react and the emotions you project to the dog. Self-control by the owner is the answer for most major behavioral problems.

Hindsight . . . was rape suspect's bond set too low?

Predicting human behavior can be tricky business -- difficult if a person's habits are familiar or available to study, nearly impossible if those factors are unknown.

Yet predicting the unknown was essentially the challenge that faced 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald when he last month set a $25,000 bond for Canton rape suspect Darrell Morey.

Morey, bound over for trial on seven counts of criminal sexual conduct involving incidents that occurred on the I-275 bike path in Canton last summer, posted bond within 24 hours of his preliminary examination.

Free since that time, Morey was last week arrested for the June 17 rape of a female teacher on the same bike path in Van Buren. He is now in custody in Wayne County Jail, pending an August circuit court trial on the new charge. Bond has been set at $500,000 cash.

Could this latest incident, outraged citizens now ask, have been prevented? Should bond have been set higher following the Canton charges? Should Judge MacDonald have remanded Morey without bond?

During Morey's preliminary examination, the Canton police lieutenant in charge of the case and the prosecuting attorney each warned that the suspect presented a threat to the community and requested that he be held without bond.

Although judges ordinarily follow the practice of disallowing bond only in cases of murder or treason, the attorney referred to Art. 1, Sect. 15 of the Michigan Constitution, which states that suspects in first-degree criminal sexual conduct cases may be held without bond "unless the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant is not likely to flee or present a danger..."

The main purpose of establishing bond is to insure a person's reappearance in court. But most judges also consider secondary factors -- the severity of the crime, the likelihood of future criminal conduct, even the impact incarceration may have on a suspect's career and family.

It is those secondary concerns, those "grey areas" that come to play in the Morey case.

One of the shaded areas is officer input.

In Morey's case, Canton Police Lt. Al Wilson had a "gut feeling."

"I honestly felt he posed a threat," Wilson said. "It was a feeling based on the victim-offender relationship, the suspect's history, and my 15 years of experience." Morey's motivation, the lieutenant said, was similar to that of most "career criminals" -- those who compulsively or systematically continue criminal enterprises when released.

Balancing the officer's recommendation, however, were several factors which make MacDonald's decision realistic and appropriate.

The judge had every reason to believe that Morey, who had already been released on bond and had returned to court, would appear for his trial. An established resident with a steady job who had already secured an attorney and invested in his defense, Morey seemed unlikely to flee.

It is also unlikely that a higher bond would have prevented Morey's release.

While other judges may have set bonds of different amounts, it is unlikely if many would have taken the one step necessary to keep Morey off the streets -- the withholding of bond altogether.

Prison overcrowding, probably more than any other factor, may be the underlying reason.

In a society where there is room to incarcerate only the most dangerous of criminals -- and then often only temporarily, prison space has become a precious commodity. Rape suspect Darrell Morey, with no previous convictions, employed in a stable job, attending school to become a minister, didn't qualify.

What can be done, then, to prevent what happened last week in Van Buren from happening again?

Pending the larger issue of prison overcrowding, judges, in some cases, might do well to listen more carefully to law enforcement officials who are familiar with the suspects.

There is also a recommendation before the Michigan Supreme Court to amend court rules to allow judges to put conditions on bonds, such as limiting the hours or locations a suspect may travel in.

In the meantime, judges must play a frightening guessing game when trying to establish appropriate bonds for suspects. As one local judge expressed it, "The only time anyone seems to care is when you turned out to be wrong."

Man's best friend

Whoever first dubbed the D-O-G with the "Man's best friend" title obviously never met my hairy little companion, Ming Tze Chang.

Ming is my 15-month-old Shih-tzu pup. He has grown near and dear to all of us...although I often wonder why.

For those who may not know, the Shih-tzu, or so we were told, is a perfect little dog. They are affectionate (that's what the book said, anyway), companionable little dogs who never grow larger than 16 pounds. Well folks, my affectionate little guy has bitten more people than I care to recall and now tips the scale at 33 chubby pounds.

The dog book that persuaded me to purchase this canine creature also assured anyone reading it that the Shih-tzu was a gift of nature as the breed does not shed. It would appear that the Lord had a good idea when He gave Shih-tzus a coat of hair that does not shed. Like many of my good ideas, however, this is one that doesn't work. The Arnold Swartzenegger of the species that resides, or rules, at our home, grows hair in abundance everywhere that hair can grow and in some places that it shouldn't. The book was right...he doesn't shed, his hair just grows, and grows and mats...constantly. It's terrific for collecting dirt, infections, bugs that bite and accounting for professional grooming bills which far outstrip the cost of the pup.

My little buddy and I have been attending obedience school with the Einstein of dog trainers, Dan Morris. We decided that puppy school might be a good idea when taking Ming for a walk was more properly described as taking Ming for a drag. He wouldn't go anyplace or in any direction I wanted to go, and vice-versa.

Another, and perhaps more pressing, reason for our attendance at dog school was Ming's penchant for throwing his considerable weight around. He had taken to carving notches on his leash for every new human bitten. When he had intimidated enough friends, relatives and neighbors to fill three leashes, along with the entire newspaper staff, it was time for obedience training or the firing squad . . . and I'm too young to die.

Ming is doing well. Okay, so he's doing better. He can hold his own at school with the big guys and has even graduated from preliminary on-leash type training. Each week at puppy school, he goes through his paces with Dobermans, Chows, Golden Retrievers, Labradors and Rottweilers. He is no stranger to German Shepherds and Bouviers, either. I think you get the picture...his 33 pounds don't appear too intimidating compared to his classmates.

We have now entered the off-leash class, and I'm not really sure about who is training whom. We joke about that, but my hairy little friend has taught me a few new tricks. We all now know how to let him out or in whenever he summons, how to feed him from the table when he announces that he is hungry (which is ALL the time...33 pounds, remember?) and how to throw a toy so that he can exercise during an interminable game of "fetch" whenever he arrives, toy in mouth, and whimpers until we submit.

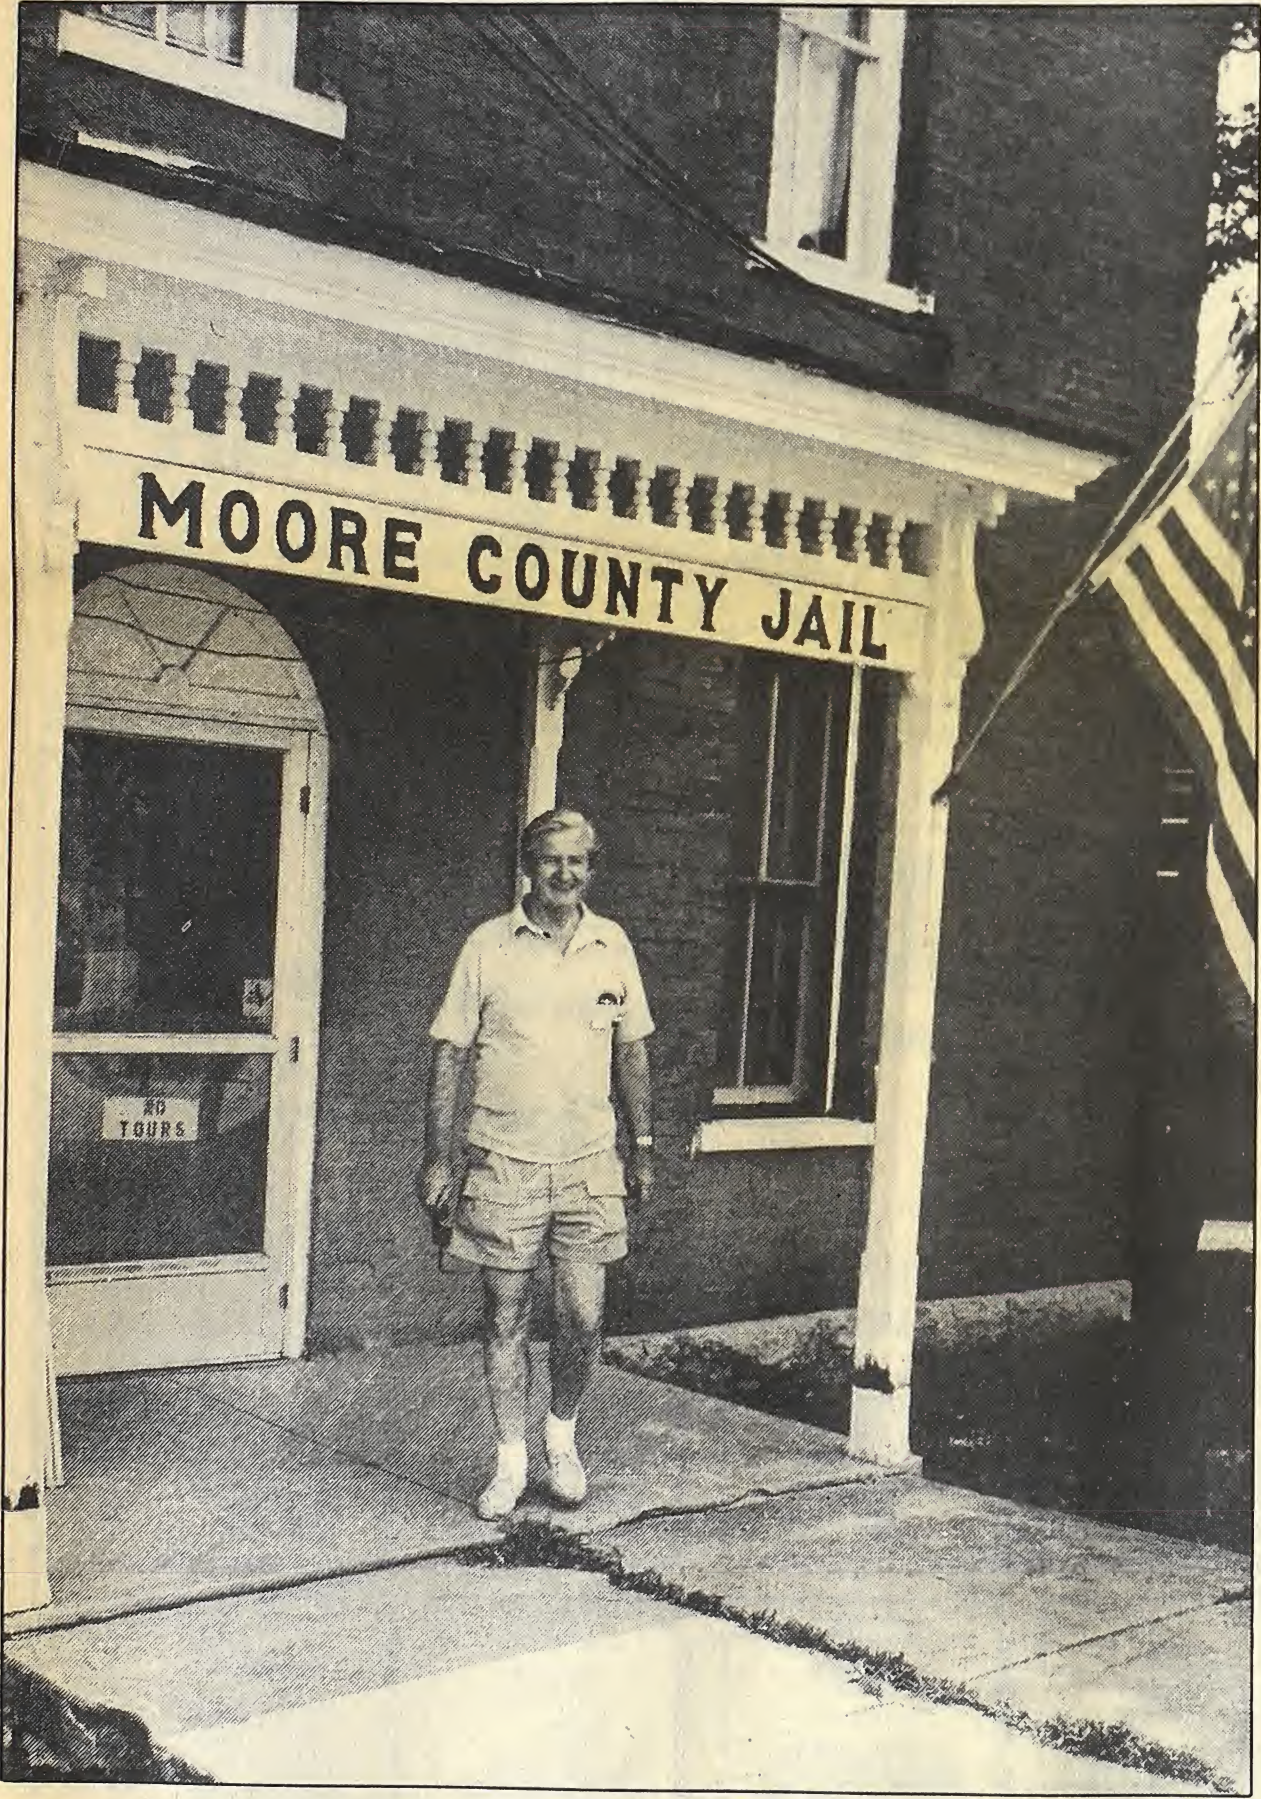

Sounds pretty awful, eh? We have learned to fight back, however. Empty pop cans containing noise-making pennies, mouse traps and bitter apple spray are but some of the weapons we have learned to employ to out fox this hairy little demon. To date, we have been unable to teach him to sleep past 6 a.m., stay off the furniture or not steal and chew shoes (the newer and more expensive, the greater the attraction, it seems).

In case you haven't perceived it so far, all of us are totally, helplessly in our little emperor's spell. In short, we are his adoring public and willing victims. One glance from his huge, sad brown eyes and the hardest heart, including that of Dan Morris, has to soften. He looks like sweetness personified and can appeal to the sentimentalist in everyone.

My friend Ming is not yet able to run the dishwasher or vacuum, but I do have hopes that he will continue to do well with his, or is it my?, obedience training. Perhaps he is destined for attack and guard-dog classes. He may be really useful then, in dealing with irate office visitors. Think of the notches he could put on his leash dealing with the number of people who want to lodge complaints. We'll make him a door plaque: "Ming Tze Chang, Complaint Manager. Enter at your own risk."

For now, I guess I'd be happy if Ming would just learn to sleep until 7 a.m. He's already taught me enough about human nature to compensate for any trouble he might cause.

See you next week.

Just visiting . . . Lynchburg, U.S.A.

With deep appreciation

To the Editor:
The family of James and Mattie Hester wish to thank you for the deep appreciation the kind expression of sympathy on the death of their son, James Hester Jr.

James and Mattie Hester, Romulus

Thank you

To the Editor,
I would like to express my sincere thanks to all the Board of Directors and workers who gave so generously of their time and talents to make the 1985 Westland Festival a smashing success. This year was one of the finest festivals this city has ever had.

Hundreds of hours of planning and thousands of hours of Volunteer work goes into making everything run smoothly.

Jay and Deloris Newell, being co-chairmen, certainly have to be congratulated on their devotion to duty. In this "me, too" generation, it remains difficult to find people who unselfishly devote their precious time to make our citizens have a good time. It is refreshing to hear other cities talking in the positive (for a change) about Westland. This festival gave our City a much needed "shot in the arm." From the Miss Westland contest to the parade to the actual festival -- everything went like clockwork! I only hope we have the same devoted directors and workers next year. My hat is off to all of you. You were superb!

Robert D. Wagner
Councilman -- Westland
For unborn

To the Editor:
In reference to the statement made by Dr. Feldman in the July 17 edition of the Wayne Eagle . . .

Dr. Feldman was quoted as saying, "They (the picketers) are not really against abortions, they're against sex." Sorry, Dr. Feldman, even though you tried to take the "heat" off yourself for the abortions you perform in your office, it won't work, for there are people who believe that abortion is murder.

There are people who feel they must try to defend the defenseless unborn baby from the onslaught of abortionists such as yourself.

And yes, there are people who feel that doctors should be in the business of protecting all human life, not destroying it for a "professional" fee.

4-H promises fulfilled at annual fair

Bea Herring of Belleville walked away with grand champion honors for her steer at the fair. For Bea the fair was bittersweet, since she will be entering the U.S. Army in October.

Up and coming actor is just a 'small town boy'

By RUSS OGDEN
Special to the ANP

Asta Zinbo and David Graham were there at the Intermediate Gallery in Mckenny Union on the Eastern Michigan University campus. To be two out of more than 100 academically talented students from all over the State of Michigan was indeed an honor. But to have seen the movie, "Terms of Endearment" on one night and to have the star of the film, Jeff Daniels, from Chelsea, Michigan, standing in front of you talking was indeed overwhelming.

Daniels was there in person, just talking informally and answering any questions posed at the student union building at Eastern. And, when asked to pose for photos, and to actually to do so was the climax for Zinbo and Graham to a most pleasant evening.

Daniels was appearing at Eastern as part of the 2-week honor program sponsored by the Michigan Department of Education and Eastern Michigan University. He had agreed to visit campus and share his experiences with high school students at 8 p.m. that evening. He is currently being featured and critically acclaimed for "The Purple Rose of Cairo," a Woody Allen movie soon to be released for sale to home video.

... he kept his head above water financially during his "lean" years by doing at least two commercials during a given year.

Encouraged by his high school music teacher to continue his work for the theatre, Daniels attended Central Michigan University for two years (according to Lynwood Noah of Chelsea) and then spent a summer (six weeks anyway ...) at Eastern Michigan University, where he met Broadway Director Marshall W. Mason, a guest lecturer for the theatre department at the time.

Through this contact, Daniels was cast in "The Fifth of July," a fine play by Lanford Wilson where Daniels played a "close friend" of the central character in the play - Ken Talley, Jr.

Originally, Broadway/Hollywood star William Hurt played the Talley role, which was later taken over by Christopher Reeve (yes, Superman!) and eventually Richard Thomas (John Boy Walton) took the lead for the HBO version. Daniels appears with Thomas in the home video version of the Off Broadway play.

Daniels, besides the movie "The Purple Rose of Cairo," was also featured on local television in the made-for-TV movie, "An Invasion of Privacy," with Valerie Harper, playing the young attorney in this production.

According to Daniels, he kept his head above water financially during his "lean" years by doing at least two commercials during a given year.

His 8-year climb to what appears to be an approaching zenith of success, was evidenced by an appearance in the movie, "Ragtime," where he played a policeman under James Cagney's direction.

The last two years have been an eruption of fireworks for Daniels with his supporting role as Debra Winger's husband - the college professor - in "Terms of Endearment," with a couple of other actors you may have heard of - Shirley McLain and Jack Nicholson.

Daniels has been described as having the combination of Lincolnesque handsomeness and his mother Marge's prettiness, the result being a wholesome, very good looking young man.

Daniels has just completed a new movie "Marie" with Academy Award Winner Sissy Spacek, and, if the rumors are correct, the talented director Michael Nichols wants him for the Nora Ephron story, "Heartburn," with Meryl Streep, amongst others.

Daniels is spending the summer relaxing with his wife, Kathleen, and new son, Ben, in Chelsea. When reached by phone, the pleasant voice of Daniels on the other end was overwhelming, and the courtesy shown by him and his willingness to take time from his summer vacation to speak informally to the 100 select students is almost unbelievable in what sometimes appears as a "non-caring society."

At least Asta Zinbo of John Glenn High School and David Graham of Wayne Memorial High School know that Jeff Daniels is alive ... and real ... and one terrific "small town person."

The rock heard 'round the world

It wasn't "the Woodstock" of the '80s, as some have put it, nor was it simply the greatest showing of rock 'n' roll talent ever gathered.

Granted, it was the greatest group of musicians ever assembled, but there was nothing "simple" about it. Woodstock showed the (excuse the expression) "generation gap" that it was possible to gather vast groups of kids together with the biggest problem being not drugs, not violence, but a lack of toilet paper.

Besides, Woodstock was meant to be a profit-making operation.

The Live Aid Concerts, nearly all of the costs (ticket printing, sound, lights, airline tickets, etc.), all of the acts, numbering well over 60, donated their time, money, personal costs - in short, everything.

Satellites transmitted the show via MTV, ABC, and other network affiliates, bringing the show into an estimated 1.5 billion homes around the world.

But it wasn't a concert; it was a telethon. The purpose, as everyone knows by now, was to raise money for the poor and starving of Ethiopia. Phone lines were jammed for three days, with people calling to offer donations, until the phone lines were cut off, allegedly by AT & T, who couldn't handle the demand.

Was it successful? In every possible way imaginable. Monies raised are still being counted, but it is estimated that the final numbers will be between $40 million and upwards of $75 million.

Aesthetically, think about it:

Bob Dylan doing an acoustic set backed up by Rolling Stones Keith Richards and Ron Wood; Daryl Hall and John Oates sharing the stage with the Temptations; Neil Young joining Crosby, Stills and Nash onstage for the first time in years; Mick Jagger and Tina Turner dueting (and setting the scene on fire, if you get my meaning ...).

What else could one hope to see a reunion of Led Zep, with Jimmy Page's searing guitar lines playing off of Robert Plant's vocals (and yes, they did "Stairway To Heaven"), a reunion of the Who, David Bowie and Jagger prancing through a rousing rendition of the classic "Dancing in the Streets," or see the man behind it all, Bob Geldof of Ireland's Boomtown Rats and the organizer of (in order) Band Aid, USA For Africa, and then Live Aid.

As the show from England (which was broadcast to the stage site at Philadelphia) wound down, perhaps the most telling moment came when everyone (Costello, Bowie, Queen, members of the Who, etc.) joined Paul McCartney as they crooned "Let It Be." Then an elated Geldof said to the crowd, "I think you all know this one," and the entire group went into the one that started it all, "Do They Know It's Christmas." Geldof, who kept a low profile throughout, was carried off of the stage by Pete Townshend and McCartney. Now that's support!

Other performers included Phil Collins (who was the only musician to play the shows at both venues, taking the Concord to America after playing in England.), Bryan Adams, Duran Duran, Power Station, The Pretenders, The Boomtown Rats, Elvis Costello, U2 (who had the power pulled on them for running overtime), the Cars, Sting, Sade, Madonna, and, well many, many more who contributed their time and money to take part of this event.

Perhaps the only complaint voiced was the small number of black acts that appeared. Ken Kragen, who manages Lionel Richie and helped put together USA For Africa, helped Geldof in contacting acts, many of which had legitimate excuses, told Rolling Stone Magazine that "Everybody is kind of acting like they already gave."

In all, it was the greatest rock spectacular we'll ever see, and certainly for the best cause.

Bob Geldof of the Boomtown Rats. The man who may be the next winner of the Nobel Peace Prize. God knows, he deserves it.

Inducted into the honor society were Collen Michaeli of Belleville, a junior at EMU, and Kimberlee Rodd of Romulus, a senior.

In addition, membership was extended to 13 area residents, including Mary Higgs of Belleville.

Romulus residents Brian K. Miller, a junior majoring in chemical engineering, and Heidi M. Westlake, a junior majoring in mechanical engineering, were named to the Dean's List for the spring quarter at Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

The students maintained a 3.5 grade point average of better to earn a spot on the academic honors list.

Belleville resident Kathleen Zager was among 455 students to be named to the Dean's List for the winter semester at Grand Valley State College in Allendale.

She had to maintain a 3.5 grade point average or higher while earning 15 or more grade point credits to be named to the academic honors listing.

Wayne County residents, who will be entering freshman at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant this fall, have been awarded scholarships, based on their outstanding high school academic records.

Among those receiving CMU academic scholarships were Belleville residents Kelly Lockhart, Holly Marr, Amanda Miller, Cheryl Schubert, Dawn Twydel and Carolyn Walters and Romulus residents Shawn Burde and Roxanne Patterson.

Romulus residents Dona-Jean Biro and Jeffrey P. Wilson have been recognized for outstanding scholarship by being named to the Dean's List for the winter semester at Schoolcraft Community College in Livonia.

Belleville High School

Belleville High School Class of 1980 will celebrate its 5-year class reunion on Saturday, Sept. 28, from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Detroit Metro Airport Holiday Inn.

Belleville High School

Belleville High School Class of 1970 will host a 15-year reunion on Friday, Aug. 9. The event will be held at St. Joseph's Hall, 9425 Whittaker Road, Ypsilanti.

Arrangements are also being made for a picnic the following day for more fun.

If you have not received your information packet contact any of the following people: Betty (Dickerson) Easley at 753-9217, Pat (Parent) Mull at 461-6969, Steve Eller at 973-8676.

Boysville

Organizers are attempting to contact all former Boysville students who attended from 1948 to 1969 for a school reunion planned for Oct. 18.

Boysville was founded in October 1948, by the late Edward Cardinal Mooney in collaboration with the Knights of Columbus of Michigan. Its purpose was to help Michigan boys in need. From 1948 to 1969 approximately 4,400 youngsters passed through its doors.

The greatest obstacle to the reunion organizers is that they have lost contact with many of these former students and are in need of contacting them.

The project has formal backing from the school itself (Br. Francis Boylan C.S.C., the school director is assisting.) The long range goal is to establish a scholarship program.

Interested persons should call Chuck Bromirski at (313) 425-6077.

Wayne Memorial High School

The Wayne Memorial High School Class of 1980 5-year reunion will take place soon. Class members are urged to call 595-2215 before Aug. 2 for further information.

Public school offering rates above average with public

Michigan citizens continued to give the local public schools a good "report card rating" in this year's state-wide public opinion survey. One-half of those interviewed rated those schools with an A or B rating. That high opinion is about the same (49 percent) as reported by citizens in the 1984 Michigan Education Poll.

And Michigan's schools are rated more highly than noted by Gallup pollsters in four consecutive nationwide polls on public attitudes toward the public schools.

Michigan ratings were obtained in the fourth state-wide opinion poll of 800 Michigan adults, conducted for the Michigan State Board of Education by MDE's Project Outreach. This year's survey was conducted between April 16-22 in a probability sampling of the state's telephone households. Sampling error for the study was 3.5 percent. The poll was under the direction of Ned S. Hubbell, Project Outreach director.

In this year's Michigan "report card rating," 8 percent gave the public schools an A rating, 42 percent a B, 32 percent a C, 5 percent a D, and 1 percent an E rating. Another 13 percent had no opinion. In the four consecutive years of such ratings, A and B responses have been slowly but steadily rising while below average, D and E ratings have been falling.

For the fourth consecutive year, parents of students currently enrolled in the schools gave higher ratings than did other citizens. Fifty-nine percent of the parents interviewed rated the schools with an A or B.

The plurality of citizens (37 percent) interviewed in the survey said the quality of education in their local schools has remained about the same in recent years and is neither getting better or worse. However, 27 percent of the survey respondents said the quality is getting better, in contrast with 15 percent who felt it was getting worse. This is a direct reversal of the findings in the 1983 Michigan Education Poll. At that time, 25 percent felt the quality of education was worse, while only 16 percent felt it was getting better.

In the past four years, survey respondents have said the biggest problem confronting local school boards has been balancing the school system's budget. "Finances" has dominated the list of problems named by respondents each year. In this year's poll, financial problems still top the list but by the lowest mention (30 percent) in the past four years.

The typical Michigan adult gives his or her local school district a good or fair rating on the way the school district manages its money. The plurality of all respondents (45 percent) and the majority of parents (52 percent) rate the school district as good or excellent in its financial management. Another 30 percent rated the schools as "fair" in this regard, 13 percent said poor and 12 percent had no opinion.

The majority of citizens (59 percent) said they would be willing to pay more taxes if it would raise the standard of education provided by the public schools in their community. Public school parents were the most favorable (67 percent) while citizens with no children in public schools favored such a proposal by a margin of 55 percent to 45 percent.

However, a slim majority (51 percent) of citizens polled opposed a plan suggested by one legislator that would reduce school operating property taxes by one-half by increasing the state sales tax from 4 percent to 6 percent per dollar. The margin of opinion on this issue was 51 percent to 43 percent with 6 percent undecided.

Survey respondents were almost equally divided on the issue of a longer school year. While 45 percent favored this, 49 percent were opposed. Public school parents opposed the idea by a margin of 54 percent to 41 percent. But a slim majority of respondents (53 percent) favored extending the school day in their community by one hour. This was supported by 57 percent of "non-parents" polled in the survey, but opposed by public school parents, 50 percent to 44 percent.

Solid approval was expressed by respondents for school districts that offer a full-day preschool program for 3- and 4-year-olds. A solid majority of respondents (58 percent) favored this. Greater support, however, was expressed (80 percent) for the suggestion that public schools offer a self-supporting, before-and-after school day care program for children of working parents.

Public school parents in Michigan do not think students in the public schools are asked to work hard enough in school. They are equally divided in the opinions about the amount of effort expected in school of elementary school students. While 44 percent feel those students are asked to work hard enough, another 44 percent disagrees. The plurality of parents say junior high school/middle school students and high school students are not asked to work hard enough in school. The majority (57 percent) of junior high/middle school parents hold that opinion as does the majority (65 percent) of high school parents.

In other survey findings:

- A slim majority of adults (54 percent) favored an increase in driver license fees to offset the rising costs of driver education in Michigan high schools.
- The vast majority of Michigan adults (80 percent) agreed with a proposed change in the certification requirements for middle school teachers. This change would permit those teachers in grades 6 through 8 to teach only in the major or minor field of study. And 87 percent favor a change in the certification of teachers that would require all teachers to take additional classes or training to renew their teaching certificate every five years.
- Seven out of every 10 respondents (70 percent) favor recent legislation requiring local school districts to have a school year of 180 days, even if it means making up days lost due to bad weather.

- Citizens have divided opinions about standards of academic eligibility for students who want to participate in school sports. While 46 percent feel these students should have no grade in any subject lower than a "C," another 40 percent would settle for an overall "C" average among all subjects taken by the student.

For the fourth consecutive year, survey respondents favored school district reorganization - through consolidation or annexation, if their local school district faced serious financial problems due to declining enrollment. This was favored by 62 percent of the survey respondents. One-half (50 percent) opposed having that district remain a separate school district if it meant voting for increased school milage.

For the fourth consecutive year in a row parents of students currently enrolled in the schools gave higher ratings than did other citizens.

Street fair participant

In conjunction with the Wyandotte Street Fair, Wyandotte Savings Bank (WSB) will be featuring a doll display at the Biddle-Elm office, and a coin bank sale at both the Biddle-Elm branch and the Main Office. Both offices will also be offering the official Wyandotte Merchants Street Fair T-Shirt for sale.

The dolls displayed at the Biddle-Elm office will be attractively arranged in the bank windows facing Biddle as well as the Elm Street side. They may be viewed throughout the duration of the Street Fair by fairgoers and will remain on display until mid-August.

The beautifully-dressed dolls are the creation of the talented ladies of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church and will be featured at the doll booth at the church's annual Festival taking place in August. Lucky winners at the Mt. Carmel festival will be able to take home the doll of their dreams, while everyone can get a sneak preview of the dolls during the Street Fair. The display will be added to periodically as more of the handmade costumes are completed.

Coin bank sales are planned at both downtown offices of the bank, with bargains galore. According to a spokesperson for the bank, the coin banks make excellent gifts for every occasion - either by themselves or with a little change, a few dollars, or a check added! A variety of coin banks will be available at greatly reduced prices, many below cost.

Also available at both bank locations will be the official Wyandotte Merchants Street Fair T-Shirt. They come in both adult and child's sizes and are priced at $5 and $4. The coin banks and T-Shirts will be available during normal banking hours, while the doll display may be viewed at any time.

Huron Countryside Co-op Nursery is now accepting applications for the new school year, which begins Sept. 9.

Although based in New Boston, the nursery welcomes children from other communities. Children ages 2 1/2 to 6 years old will attend two-hour classes at Miller School in New Boston.

In the classroom, parents assist teacher Lois Winfield, a former kindergarten and Head Start teacher, on a rotating basis. The children will enjoy a variety of activities throughout the year, including painting, stories, songs, games, group activities and class parties. They will also participate in many field trips to broaden their experience and add to the fun of learning.

Interested parents are invited to bring their children to one of the summer coffee meetings to be held Aug. 8 and Aug. 27. There, they will have the opportunity to talk with Mrs. Winfield and other nursery members about the program.

The school is non-discriminatory, non-profit, and parent-owned, with low tuition. Application forms or additional information can be obtained by calling 753-4648 or 461-6410.

No playoff surprises

Belleville Caesar's adds 2nd gem to softball crown

It's playoff time in the Romulus Parks and Recreation women's softball league and regular-season pacesetter, Little Caesar's of Belleville, continued to display the over-all power that helped it capture the championship.

Belleville erupted for three runs in the first inning while winning pitcher Jan Coleman gathered "goose eggs" to throttle Century 21, 4-0, in their showdown.

Coleman allowed seven hits, two of those singles to Donna Wiegenka in chalking up the crucial victory. Shelly Burger had a triple for the losers.

In the meantime, Little Caesar's got a single and a double and two runs batted in from Brenda Kryzyski. Karen Weber also had two hits for the winners.

Coleman survived a 10-hit assault by J & D Auto to card a 12-4 triumph in Thursday's playoff match-up with its arch-rivals. Leading 5-0 in the bottom of the second, Belleville appeared well on its way to victory when J & D came up with four runs of its own in the third. Caesar's came back with a run in the fourth then sealed the victory with six runs in the fifth inning.

Cindy Burnie laced three singles while Elaine Linderman chipped in a single and triple for the losers. Burnie, also the losing hurler, delivered 16 hits, two of those roundtrippers to Brenda Kryzyski who had three hits for the winners. Chris Pinter also had two hits.

In another Division I playoff game, Century 21 amassed 15 hits off of pitcher Nel Phillips en route to a 10-7 victory over Lanzo Construction. Lanzo wasted two hits by Karen Barton and also a run-scoring ble by Debbie Dick.

Karen Gill was the winning pitcher and she received ample hitting support from Sandy Goins who had two RBIs thanks to four singles and three singles, by Mishael Bardoni.

In the meantime, Walter's Bar emerged as the winner of the women's Class C tournament. But the tournament champ needed a rally to convince Glass Mug which team was superior in the finals.

After Walter's scored a run in the opening inning, Glass Mug came back and tied and went ahead with two of its own runs. Then pitchers Laura Umin, on the mound for Walter's, and Glass Mug's Dorothy Rzynar, settled down to pitch scoreless ball until the sixth when Walter's tied it at 3-all. Walter's earned the championship with a 3-run seventh inning outburst.

Umin, who twirled a four hitter, was the winning pitcher. Teammate Nancy Maitland chased home two of the five runs thanks to a sacrifice fly and a single. Tammy Nelson got a pair of singles off of loser, Rzynar. Bridget Gappa, Janet Moonaw and Shannon Van-Meer accounted for all of the Glass Mug's hits.

Walter's also needed a rally to turn back Glass Mug in their earlier confrontation. Scoring twice in the first inning, Glass Mug surrendered the lead in the top of the third when Walter's came up with three to go ahead. They added a security tally in the seventh. Nelson also had two hits while Denise McMillan and Joann Nault had run-scoring singles.

Umin, the winner, served up a single and a double to Janie McBride.

Glass Mug exploded for four runs in the first inning then hung on to edge Coughlin's 5-4 thanks to Rzynar's performance on the mound. She blanked her rivals the last two innings after giving up three runs in the fifth inning. Rzynar helped her own cause with a triple and a homer and single-handedly accounted for three RBIs. Teammate McBride provided two hits, both singles.

Cheryl Michling was charged with the loss. Coughlin's wasted the hitting efforts of Lori Graczyk and Piper Meyers who both had two hits.

Walter's however buried Coughlin's 15-2, scoring six big runs in the opening inning. The game was all but over after the second frame when Walter's had built up a 10-2 lead.

Contributing to the 16-hit Walter's assault were Nelson who turned in with a double and a pair of singles; McMillan who also had three hits. Umin and Denise Rothe split four singles between them.

Umin, who scattered four hits, yielded a double to losing pitcher Cheryl Michling. Linda Madej latched on to a pair of singles for the losers.

In other Division II results, Telegraph scored in every inning and racked up 20 hits in its 18-0 shutout over Suburban Oil as Diane Scarborough earned

On the firing line

If you have been wondering when the 1985 City Championship golf tournament will be staged, wonder no more. Tournament manager Bill Hawley this week announced that the dates for the annual classic are August 10-11. And if you are among the 100 golfers who annually compete in this tournament it would be wise to get in a couple of practice rounds at Fellows Creek, the site for the 1985 competitions.

Class 'D' playoffs
Sun-n-Snow shines above field

Managing to put it all together when it counted, Sun-Snow captured the Romulus men's Class 'D' softball playoff championship last week.

With Paul Debusscher on the mound, the champs turned back Birclair Electronics 4-1 thanks to a three-run third inning spurt that stood up the rest of the way. Alex Grose got to losing pitcher Ed Tieppo for a pair of singles and an RBI while Wes Jager belted a single and a double. Debusscher gave up a triple and a single to Joe Shegger and a run-scoring single to Harry Hunter.

Birclair however claimed an impressive 8-4 victory over the champs as Birclair emerged with five big runs in the bottom of the sixth thanks to Joe Sheffer and Dave Dittmar who combined for four hits. Tieppo was the winner, despite giving up a near "cycle" to Conrad Jager who failed to get a homer but hit almost everything else. Debusscher helped his own cause with a triple and an RBI.

Sun-n-Snow scored six times in the top of the seventh to post a 12-9 victory over their arch rivals in what became a three-game series. John Clark aided Debusscher with a triple and single and DeDusscher continued to look impressive at the plate as well as the mound. He stroked three hits and chased home three runs.

Kevin Toor had a double and a triple and three RBIs and Joe Sheffer picked up a single and a triple for the losers.

Both Sun-n-Snow and Nan's collected 16 hits, but Nan's emerged atop of a 12-9 score earlier in the week. Nan's Gil Cox accounted for three hits, including a double. He also had three RBIs. Mates Gary Schewe, Don Kennedy and Ron Rattray each had two hits.

On the other side of the scoresheet, Wes Jager chased home two runs with two singles and Bob Maciejewski had three singles while Jon Clark and Dave Thiede finished the night with two hits apiece.

Kerr's humbled Sun-n-Snow 9-1 thanks to homers by Stu Block and Kevin Stragado and two hits each from Bill Musser and Brian Block.

District 2 Broncos champs

Westland All-Stars nip Waterford in finale for title

By KEITH A. DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Call them the "Cardiac Kids", call them the Comeback Kids, call them what you will, but the one thing you can call these 15 young men of the Westland Youth Athletic Association Broncos All-Star team is champions.

These 15 young men, who came together from four different teams in the Broncos' AAA Division, were crowned champions of the District 2 Broncos Tournament, staged recently at Redford Township's Capital Park.

Under the tutelage of manager John Bradford and the expert coaching of Jeff Durtka, Jim McNellis, Gary Pack and Charlie Shackelford, the Westland All-Stars came together as a team, and claimed the first Broncos tournament championship in Westland baseball history.

But, more importantly, it was the play of 15 young men who preserved, stood up to adversity and beat it back, and above all, never gave up.

Taking on Redford in the first game on a hot Friday afternoon, Bradford started Chris James on the mound. James quickly surrendered four runs in the first inning, but this team refused to buckle under pressure.

The Westland squad responded to the challenge with two runs in the first inning. Sam Lacarato, who batted .481 on the season for the champion Pirates, led off with a single, stole second, and scored on a two-out single by James. Curtis Duffina then singled in James and Westland trailed, 4-2.

Then in the second, Lacarato homered with two out. Joe Mead singled and stole second, then scored on Dave Sumey's double to tie the game 4-4. James then singled in Sumey and Westland led, 5-4.

Lacarato pitched an effective three innings, retiring 10 of the 11 batters he faced. But so did the Redford pitchers as they kept Westland in check.

Finally, Westland added an insurance run in the sixth when Kevin Sparkman led off with a walk, stole second, and took third on a wild pitch. It was from there that Tom Kostora delivered the run with a fielder's choice and Westland led, 6-4.

But Redford closed the gap to 6-5 on a monster home run, estimated to have traveled at least 300 feet, off the bat of Koss in the bottom of the inning.

In the seventh, they tied it up at 6-6 and there it stayed as Mike Higgins matched pitches with Redford's hurler until the tenth inning. Sumey tripled leading off the frame, and James was intentionally walked. James stole second, then Duffina singled in Sumey, moving James to third. On a double steal, James stole home and they led, 8-6.

Higgins retired the three men in the tenth and Westland had their first win.

But, on Saturday, disaster struck. Playing before a sun-scorched crowd of ardent Westland fans, they took a 7-6 loss at the hands of Waterford despite the heroics of James who drilled a home run and a single and Duffina also chipped in with a double.

However, Westland didn't give up. With the red-hot sun pouring down on them, the Westlanders took on Walled Lake and pummelled them into the loss column, 13-7.

In that crucial game, Higgins went 4-for-5 including a homer and he also retired the last six batters for the save of Lacarato's victory; Chris James near-cycle and 3-for-5 day at the plate along with Duffina's homer and a pair of hits.

The Westlanders also had everyone in the line-up contributing to a 7-run seventh inning, that put the game away.

Sparkman was superb behind the plate and teammate Darby Scott contributed a seventh inning triple that chased home the tying and the winning runs.

In the 6 p.m. duel, the Westlanders prevailed, 7-6, as Carl Mason drove in two runs in the fourth inning with a triple and Sparkman pitched five strong innings. Higgins strolled out of the bullpen for the save, bringing his total to 27 men retired out of 29 he faced during the week.

Fourteen hours later, Westland returned to Capitol Park for the championship game against Waterford, accompanied by a group of unsundered but enthusiastic parents.

Westland took a 3-1 lead after one inning on singles by Sumey and Adam Shackelford's double. They built a 5-1 lead by the fifth inning and Sparkman retired 10 men in a row until the sixth when Waterford scored four runs to cut the lead to 6-5.

But fortunately for the Westlanders, Mike Gonzalez had walked with two men out in the previous inning and scored on a single by Lacarato.

Lacarato put out the fire in the seventh, instigating a huge celebration by 15 players, manager, coaches, and parents, signifying their championship.

the victory. Kathy Scarborough helped her sister's cause with four hits, three of them doubles. Linda Henson collected a pair of singles, a double and a triple, while Carol Marl had the distinction of belting the lone homer in the game. Wanda Syer and Diane Scarborough checked in with three and two hits respectively.

Lisa Hoth, Jessie Stokely, Lyndia Russo, Laura Skara and Sherry Laroack accounted for all five of the Suburban Oil hits.

Benny's tallied seven times to post a 13-8 victory over Middlebelt as winning pitcher Carol Minda gave up 10 hits, including a pair of singles to Margie Brooks. Deb Rakoczy, Sue Dyer and Lori Bennett each had run-scoring singles.

Senate Coney Island rallied for four runs in the sixth inning to break a 10-all deadlock en route to a 14-10 victory over Middlebelt Bar.

Coney Island cashed in on three hits from Brenda Calhoun while Gail Blanchard had a single and triple from Gail Blanchard who also had two RBIs.

Middlebelt Bar's Cindy Steele came through with a homer and a pair of singles, good for two runs batted in and Lori Bennett also checked in with two singles but it wasn't enough to stop winning pitcher Sharon Godowski. Cindy Cavers took the loss.

Suburban Oil made good use of Kathy Potoczak's pitching and 11 hits to edge Glass Mug, 3-2. Leading the winner's attack were Jessie Stokey and Pat Gores who had four hits between them.

Glass Mug's response was four hits divided equally between Sharon McBride and Janet Moonaw.

Telegraph Bar's Diane Scarborough was tagged for three runs in the first inning by Walter's Bar, but her teammates provided her with the tying runs in the next frame and the decisive three runs in the third frame as the innkeepers won an 8-5 duel. Walter's Laura Umin was the losing pitcher. She yielded 12 hits, including three singles to Pam Offelt and a pair of runs to Linda Henson.

Jane Shafer hammered two homers and four RBIs and Tammy Nelson checked in with a pair of singles for the losers.

Benny's exploded for 19 hits as they knocked off Coughlin's 21-10 in their final meeting of the regular season. Benny's scored a total of 16 runs in the fourth and fifth innings to break away from their rivals. Coughlin's had a 5-2 lead in the first inning.

Cindy Madej and Vickie Brainard split four hits between them, for the losers while losing pitcher Laurie Hadyniak gave up four hits, including two triples to Tracy Barnett and Karen Houle had three singles and four runs batted in. Winning pitcher was Carol Minda.

Glass Mug recorded an easy 17-3 victory over Coughlin as Janie McBride and Bridget Gappa provided the home run and scoring power for the winners. McBride had a single and homer and four RBIs while Gappa duplicated the performance. Denise Slater knocked in two runs with a pair of hits. Winning pitcher Dorothy Rzyrnar gave up a run-scoring double to Sharon Dugan and Pam Young laced two singles for the losers.

In the only other women's game, Walter's edged Senate's 8-7 despite being outthit by their rivals, 11-9. Walter's tilted the scoreboard for six runs in the fourth inning after Senate had put four runs on the board in the top of that inning. Lora Branham, Nina Humphrey and Debbie Ouderslus each had two hits for the losers while winning pitcher, Umin, received ample hitting support from Denise McMillan who belted a two-run double; Monica Offman who had a pair of singles and Candy Gwitt who stroked a run-scoring triple.

Geralyn Palka (left) will have some extra help when she enters Michigan State University as a freshman this fall. The 1985 Wayne Memorial High School graduate was selected as the recipient of the $2,500 Richard Colina Memorial Scholarship from Central Beer Distributors Inc. of Romulus. The scholarship is in honor of Colina, an MSU graduate who worked at the firm, a career in both education and business being followed by his children, John, who is president of Central, and his daughter, Karen Wilson, vice-president, who presented the check last week to Palka. The teen plans on majoring in computer science at MSU, with a possible double major in mathematics. She is the daughter of Rita Palka of Wayne and Chester Palka. The winner of the annual scholarship is selected from one of the 29 high schools within the firm's service area.

Michigan Bell takes worry out of phone repairs

The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized Michigan Bell to offer residents and small business customers two new services aimed at taking the expense and worry out of telephone repair.

Line-Backer and Line-Backer Plus maintenance agreements should give customers new peace of mind knowing that when something goes wrong with their phone service, they won't be alone in locating the problem, explained Charlene Mitchell, local corporate affairs manager for Michigan Bell.

"Customers will no longer have to determine whether the problem is in the phone line or in the phone itself, and who to call when there's a problem," Mitchell said. "With basic Line-Backer service - $1 per month - we'll send someone to the home, pinpoint the problem and we'll fix it, if it's in the wiring within the house, with no additional charges."

And while Michigan Bell no longer services telephone sets, should they need repair, with Line-Backer Plus service - for an additional $1 per month - the company will provide the same Line-Backer options plus "loaner" phones for up to 60 days, until customers repair or replace their own phones.

"Line-Backer services are designed to take the hassle out of repair problems," Mitchell said. "We know it's been hard for customers to determine the source of the problem. These services should take out the guess work."

Both services will be available to customers Aug. 2. To subscribe to the service, customers need only return the enrollment form being mailed to them or the one published in local newspapers.

As a special offer for this new service, customers who order before Nov. 2, will not have to pay the sign up charge of $4.95.

In a related matter, Michigan Bell customers in the Romulus area again will be asked to select the long distance company of their choice for "Dial 1 Plus" service, and if they make no selection, they'll be assigned to one of the companies providing service in their area.

"A few months ago, Romulus area customers were asked to select a long distance company, and if they made no choice they would remain with AT&T," Mitchell said. "Under a Federal Communications Commission decision, Michigan Bell now must randomly assign those customers who make no choice."

Mitchell said customers in the 941 and 942 exchange will soon receive information in the mail explaining the changes and another response card on which to make a selection.

To choose a long distance company, customers need only check the appropriate box on the card they receive and mail it back to Michigan Bell in the self-addressed, postage-paid envelope provided.

"Dial 1 Plus" - which becomes available in the Romulus area in August - enables customers to use any long distance company offering the service in their area by dialing "1" plus the area code (where necessary) plus the telephone number. In the past, placing a call through any long distance company other than AT&T required dialing as many as 22 digits.

Community involvement is par-for-the-course at the "Home of the Whopper". Burger King restaurants in Westland along with the Westland Parks and Recreation Department have combined efforts to organize the 6th Annual Junior Golf Tournament to be held Aug. 9 at the Westland Municipal Golf Course located on Merriman Road south of Cherry Hill Road. The tournament is open to all boys and girls ages 11 through 16. The registration fee of $5.50 includes green fees, golf balls, food and prizes. Burger King is furnishing champion and runner-up trophies for each flight of boys and girls by age class. Entry forms are available at the golf course and at Burger King restaurants at 120 S. Merriman Road and 237 N. Wayne Road in Westland.

Speaking of kids ... Kiddie Junction at 4884 S. Wayne Road in Wayne is now offering a young fives program for fall for children who are not quite old enough or ready to start kindergarten. Kiddie Junction, which is in its 7th year of operation, currently offers educational child care for ages 12 months through 8 years including preschool, kindergarten, latch key, and toddler programs. For more information contact Pat Arrowsmith at 595-1222. Kiddie Junction is open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mel's Cleaners in Belleville has a new owner: Russel Minges of Ypsilanti. Mr. Minges, who also owns Trojans Cleaners of Ypsilanti, just recently acquired the 28-year-old business from former owners Mel and Bev Keller. Mel's Cleaners at 337 Main Street currently has 13 employees all of whom are Belleville residents: Russel reports, "the people of Belleville have welcomed us with open arms and have been just great." Mr. Minges plans to do some remodeling and updating in the near future.

Hey, what about the other Lerights? Lerights Restaurant at 38910 Michigan Avenue at John Hix Road faces a unique communication challenge. You see, there are two Lerights Restaurants in the area with the other one more well known at 626 S. Wayne Road in Westland. They are, however, separately owned. Leright's on Michigan Avenue wants to establish their own identity and, thus, have come up with an all-new menu with lower prices to create the difference. Dinners start at just $2.85 and full-size breakfasts are just $1.95. Not bad.

Speaking of good deals, ... A-1 Typewriter at 33500 Ford Road in Westland is running a "two-fer-one" sale on office supplies through the month of August. Just say you read it in the paper and with every pen you buy, you get one free. Office supply items include note pads, typewriter ribbons, desk tape, paper clips, etc.

The guys who has everything probably doesn't have one of these ... His own personal, portable power plant ... A Suzuki Generator. Jonimo's Suzuki at 27790 Joy Road in Livonia now carries a wide variety of Suzuki generators that are perfect for on-the-spot power anytime, anywhere. Stop by Jonimo's showroom and see their entire line or give them a call at 422-7952. The prices are surprisingly low for the quality.

See you next week! (Jim Ahrenberg is an advertising consultant with Associated Newspapers. Contributors to "Open For Business" include Dennis Williams and Valerie Higgins.)

There's something you can always count on from Michigan Bell:

Good service from good people.

If working for Michigan Bell has taught me anything, it's that customer service comes first. And lately, since so much has changed in the telephone industry, Michigan Bell is naturally concerned that you are given every opportunity to learn about what's going on. That's where I come in. I'm Charlene Jones Mitchell, and part of my job as a Michigan Bell Corporate Affairs Manager involves making sure Michigan Bell customers know how and where to get answers to phone service questions.

One good place to call is the Let's Talk Center. It's staffed by Michigan Bell people specially trained to answer almost any general question about phone service. The toll-free number for the Center is 1 800 555-5000.

And for specific problems, there are Michigan Bell people to call. For example, if you have a repair problem with your residence phone service, you should call 221-2121; if the problem is with business phone service, the number is 221-3131; if the problem is with a public telephone, call 221-5151.

Another convenient source of information that shouldn't be overlooked is the Customer Guide section in the front of your Michigan Bell White Pages telephone directory. It's full of phone numbers and helpful information on who to call for what. One of the numbers you'll find there is also on your monthly phone bill. It's the number of your Michigan Bell business office. That's where you get in touch with a service representative who can help you with specific questions about your phone service, or your bill.

I hope you'll find these suggestions helpful in knowing how and where to get answers. Even though I can't answer your questions on an individual basis, if you belong to a community or service group in the area and would like me to come out and address your group, please let me know. The number to call to schedule a talk is (313) 297-9762.

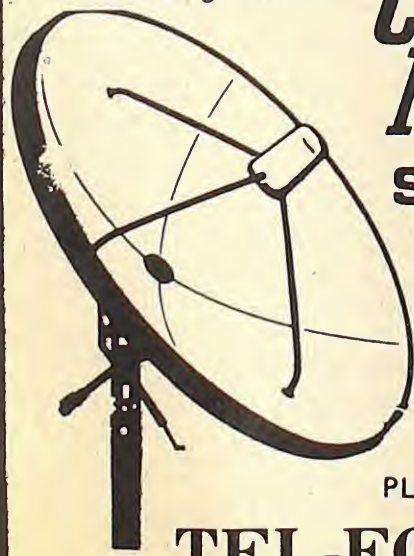

After all, helping people learn about their phone service is what I, and a lot of other Michigan Bell people, do every day.

chef larry janes

Way back in 4th century, B.C., Alexander the Great enjoyed the quintessentially frozen confections brought to him from the mountains by couriers who actually ran snow from the covered Alps and Pyrenees. The infamous Nero is said to have actually executed the general in charge when the snow melted en route.

I happen to personally know a few dieters who would throw oblivion to the wind in order to make the Grand Opening of another Steve's Ice Cream Parlor. (More on Steve's to follow)

The exact date when ice cream became what it is today will forever be just a loving memory in our stomachs. Ice cream as we know it today has been America's favorite dessert even when George Washington owned a "cream machine for making ice." In 1846, an American woman named Nancy Johnson took a wooden bucket, filled it with ice and salt and fitted it with a metal can equipped with beaters powered by a crank. All those in favor of making Nancy Johnson's birthday a national holiday, please write your congressman A.S.A.P. Can you believe that the poor lady didn't patent her invention? For some odd reason, I just can't comprehend a Baskin-Johnson or even Johnson-Haagen!

Rich homemade ice cream is a delectable treat most children and a few adults have yet to savor. Ah, those poor folks might indicate that they have enjoyed good ice cream, good to them is something filled with stabilizers, neutralizers, preservatives, artificial flavors, artificial color and pasteurized to boot!

Gone are the simple Sunday get-togethers on the back porch with everyone taking a turn cranking the freezer and all the kids eagerly waiting to lick the dashers.

Making ice cream at home, believe it or not, is far more expensive than buying it at the supermarket, but the quality, the richness, the subliminal flavor, ah ecstasy! If you are going to try making fruit flavored ice cream at home, save the pits and the skins of the fruit and simmer them in the cream you are to use. The flavor will be intensified and the ice cream will be tinted a delicate shade of the fruits color. A small amount of your favorite liqueur can be added — ever so lightly because too much liqueur will prohibit the freezing process. If you want the true, distinguishable taste of alcohol, flambee the liqueur first to remove the alcohol, this leaves the taste without the "punch." For best results, pack the ice cream in covered containers (try to use metal or glass as plastic tends to pick up odors) and allow to season in the freezer for a few hours for an even better taste.

This writer has tested dozens of each variety of ice cream maker, I have singled out the best, for your information, and because of all the taste tests and whatnots, I will see you soon at your local Weight Watchers meeting. Burp.

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S RECIPE FOR FRENCH VANILLA ICE CREAM

2 pints heavy cream
6 yolks of eggs
1/2 pound sugar (1 cup)
Mix the yolks with the sugar. Put the cream in a heavy casserole over medium fire with a stick of vanilla. When near boiling, take it off and pour it gently in the egg/sugar mixture. Stir it well. Put it on the fire again, stirring it thoroughly with a spoon to prevent it sticking to the casserole. When near boiling, take it off and strain it through a towel (sieve). Put it in the freezer.

A fun place to shop for ice cream freezers is the Hertler Bros. General Store in downtown Ann Arbor. They carry, in my opinion, the best ice cream freezers. (White Mountain) A basic, 2-quart, hand crank machine should cost about $35. The more fancier ones with electric motors, about $50. For true ice cream connoisseurs, check out the ZEROOLL cast aluminum ice cream dipper (available at specialty/gourmet shops at about $8) The handle is filled with anti-freeze that keeps it warm relative to frozen things so it allows you to shovel out the hardest of ice creams.

True ice cream lovers will go bonkers over Steve's Ice Cream Store on State Street across from the di-ag and just down from the State Street Theatre. They originated in Boston at Cambridge and trust me, you won't believe your tastebuds when you see what they can do to simple vanilla ice cream. Try it with cashews and Reeses Pieces. You thought you'd died and gone to heaven!

Hungerford — Marttila exchange vows

The Holy Spirit Catholic Church in Lantana, Florida, provided the setting for the May 11 nuptials of Karen Edna Hungerford of Belleville and Larry Brian Martilla II of Lantana.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hungerford Jr. of Belleville. The groom is the son of Paul and Doris Martilla of Lantana.

Two arrangements of assorted floral bouquets with sprigs of ivy decorated the sanctuary of the church for the double ring ceremony, officiated by Fr. Clarence Podgorski and witnessed by 50 relatives and guests.

Music following the ceremony was performed by Mark Spencer, who sang "There Is Love."

The bride wore a ruffled white gown with a gored skirt gathered to the bodice, made for her by Mrs. Martilla. The off-the-shoulder bodice was accented with Victorian lace, while satin ribbons and lace accented the back closure. The puffed sleeves tapered into fitted cuffs.

The cathedral and blusher veils, made by the bride, were decorated with pearl accents, while her bouquet was made up of white carnations, tipped in shades of purple, a dozen white roses, baby's breath and ivy.

The bride asked Judy Martilla of Ann Arbor, sister-in-law of the groom, to serve as her maid of honor. She wore a southern belle style gown in a soft shade of lilac, accented by Victorian lace, a high neckline and long puffed sleeves. She wore an arrangement of baby's breath as a headpiece and carried a bouquet of white and purple carnations with sprigs of baby's breath and white and purple ribbon streamers.

The groom asked his brother, Michael Martilla of Belleville, to perform the duties of best man. Serving as ushers were Steven Smerk from Canada, grandfather of the groom, and Johan Martilla of Johannesburg, Michigan, also the groom's grandfather.

Mrs. Hungerford chose a street-length striped dress for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Martilla wore a street-length dusty rose-colored dress. Their corsages were of double chrysanthemums.

A reception for the newlyweds and their guests was held at the groom's parent's home prior to a weekend honeymoon at the Royce Hotel in West Palm Beach, Florida.

The new Mrs. Martilla is a

Her husband is a graduate of Lake North High School and currently is attending Florida Atlantic University, where he is majoring in accounting. He is employed as a stock person by Winn Dixie in Lantana.

White — Crawford say 'I do'

Hurricane lamps, accented by white mums, white pew bows and ferns decorated St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton Township for the June 22 nuptials of Cynthia A. White of Ann Arbor and Leslie J. Crawford of Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas J. White of Ann Arbor. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Crawford of Belleville.

The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Thomas A. Belczak, with the music by organist Larry Wegrzyn and soloist Sandy Starbird.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length, off-the-shoulder style gown in ivory taffeta by Priscilla of Boston. The puffed sleeves were accented by ruffles, silk flowers and crystal beads, while the skirt fell into a chapel train.

A silk floral wreath with crystal beads and ivory streamers held her fingertip veil in place, while her bouquet was of phalaenopsis orchids, white sweetheart roses, stefanotis, baby's breath and ferns.

She asked Sue Offman of Canton Township, a friend, to serve as her matron of honor. She wore a tea-length mauve taffeta dress with short puffed sleeves and silk flower accents on each shoulder. Her bouquet was made up of rubrum lilies, alstramerium, stefanotis, baby's breath and ivy.

Serving as bridesmaids were Kimberly A. and Carolyn E. White of Ann Arbor, her sisters, and Judy Janack of Belleville, her sister-in-law. Their outfits and bouquets matched that of the honor attendant.

The flowergirl was Jamie Janack, 8, of Belleville, a niece of the groom, who wore a white eyelet dress with mauve satin sash. Her headpiece was a wreath of baby's breath with mauve ribbon accents.

The ringbearers were Mark

Janack, 7, of Belleville, nephew of the groom, and Kyle Tobson, 4, of Dallas, Texas.

The groom asked Kenneth Hochstein of Garden City, a friend, to perform the duties of best man. The ushers were James Gendron of Dearborn, Nicolo Schultz of Northville and Glen A. Clifton of Dearborn Heights, all friends of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a periwinkle blue, floor-length chiffon dress, with long sleeves and bugle bead accents for the mid-afternoon ceremony. A wrist corsage of white roses completed the ensemble.

The groom's mother wore a pink floor-length dress with pink lace long-sleeved overlay. Her corsage was made up of rubrum lilies.

A reception for the newlyweds was held at the Plymouth Hilton Inn in Plymouth, followed by a three-day honeymoon at the Homestead in Glen Arbor, Michigan. The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom, as held at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rakotz

Williams—Rakotz wed

Freddie Williams of Prestonburg, Kentucky, and Lois Mae Williams of Dana, Kentucky, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Susan Elaine, to Michael A. Rakotz, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Rakotz of Belleville.

The couple exchange their vows on May 1 in Las Vegas, Nevada, followed by a honeymoon in Los Angeles, California.

A reception for the newlyweds was held at the groom's parents home in Belleville on June 29, with 200 guests in attendance.

The new Mrs. Rakotz is a 1980 graduate of Prestonburg High School in Kentucky and is currently employed by Canvas Concepts Inc. of Livonia. She also is attending Schoolcraft Community College, where she is enrolled in the medical record technology program.

Her husband is a 1980 graduate of Romulus Senior High School and currently is employed at CanCarb Tool and Die Inc. in Romulus. He also is enrolled in tool and die apprenticeship classes at Henry Ford Community College.

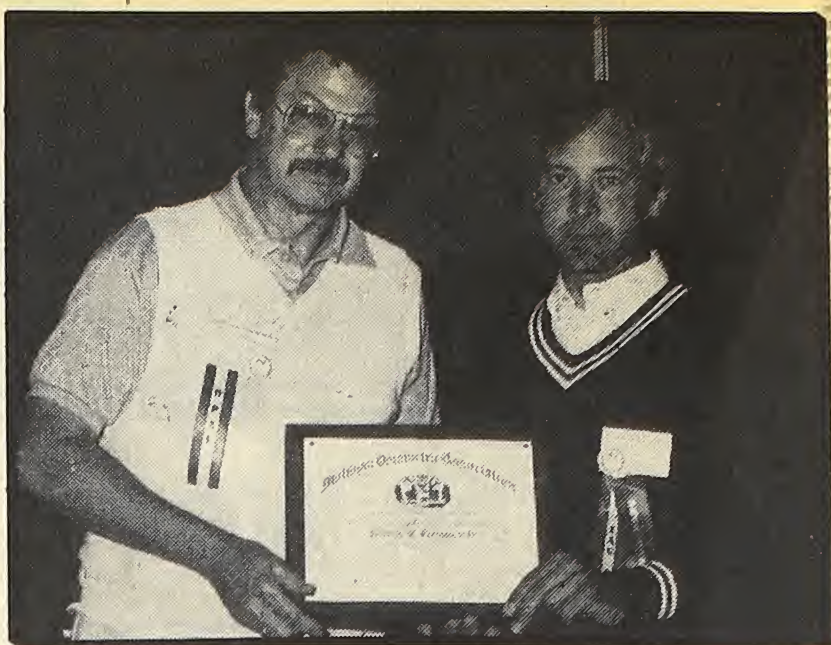

The newlyweds are making their home in Ypsilanti.
